In his address to his constituents he signally fails to justify limself; president were true, he would still have no excase for resigning his office. If the president has done wrong the senator is not accountable for it. Each is to answer for his own conduct, and not for the conduct of the other. Mr. Conkling disingenously represents the presiconsent" of the sensie, or as attempting by pressure of executive power to overcome it. Nothing could be more ritarly without founda-tion. The president has regard to the advice and consent of the senate as a whole, which is the constitutional method, and declines : yield to the arregant distation of individual members of it. If Conting and Platt could have beaten the Robertson nomination they would not have resigned. But finding the could not beat it they exhibited what has justly been called the petulance of school-boys. Their act would be unworthy the members of a town official associates over a town pound life.

Against the arregance and tyranny of bossism the republican party not only protests but wages unreleuting war. It was shown under the Grant administration what the necessary zesults of the creed of "cciprocal rapins which goes under the name of "senatorial country," are. The system scandalized the country and brought the republican party, hithoric all nowerful, to the very verge of ruinous over the party in convention at Cincinnati refused usider Grant or any Grant condidate, and 1880, the party in convention at Chicago refused Grant again, and nominated Gardeld. FIRST. My reason for giving better value in a lady a Bress or Rolman: Mrs. LITT and my-cil are devoting our entire time, from 5 in the maraing until 10 in the evening, Sandays ex-existed.

SECOND. In the East, the same size of store, with insurance, on a principal street, easts fully five times the amount we pay.

THIRD. As it takes from 40 to 50 days to get a Bress from New York, they are compelled to charge fancy prices, as they have to make them up and wait these chances, and often one-half the Bresses are kept on had as "dead" stock.

FOURTH. I am lighty managyass, and had one day's notice is required; by next day's said the Bress is ready to be shipped. Having worked for Messbaum's built House, I am enabled to state the above facts.

Further. The pictures is whotever catalogues sent out look beautiful, but when it commining the work, as Bresses are superior, as good hunds in New York are getting by it can be Portland. yaged time is Portland.

ANSWER REGARDING PRESCRIT.

On Metirday Capt. Holman hed a freight filled $2.85 one small hox containing glimp, fringes and tassels, incomming to $388.72, which can be calculated is only about two-thirds of a contribute, while in New York the assurance on $385 is 7 and 8 per cent.

the general have resolved in his wrath to leave from New York but that of control-vives ling and distributing the offices, and as in Chr. could not do that there was nothing left but to resign. In his address to his constituents he signally fails to justify himself; for, even if all he asserts as to the course of the president were true, he would still have no excuse for resigning his office. If the presiden has done wrong the senator is not accountable for it. Each is to answer for his own conjunct and not for the conduct of the other. Mr Coukling disingenously represents the presidon't as trying to dispense with the "advice and consent" of the small, or as attempting by pressure of executive power to overcom, it. Nothing could be more atterly without founds tion. The president has regard to the advice and consent of the senate as a whole, which is the constitutional multind, and declinds to yield to the arrogant dictation of individual sembers of it. If Condition and Platt could have beaten the Reference nomination they would not have resigned. But finding they could not beat it they exhibited what has justly been called the petulaneous school-boys. Their det would be unworthy the members of a town

Imquiry has been made as to what cour THE ORDSONLY will take in regard to the approaching contest in Partland for municipal officers. As far as such queries come from professional politicians and rings formed for the purposes of forwarding personal schemes and jobbery, it is imperficient and superfluins. As it has in the past, it will favor the selection As it has in the past, it will favor the selection of the men who come b fore the people recommended by their merits and intown to before from all alliance with any party cliques or rings, composed of persons whose highest ambition is to get into off co and use it either to serve some master who aspures to a higher place or to rob the public treasura of a large salary by service indifferently parformed. The higher standard of journation, whice in sach matters allows fair crigitism of candidates for matters allows fair criptism of cantidates for office, no matter by what party they may be put forward will be fully mulificated, and white it has no as whatever to grind in the city elec-tion, it will certainly do nothing for those who seek preferment with a ment, or position without qualification. [The time is post when the right minded voter of the country inquires as particularly as to whether a candidate who seeks the offse of addeduction or other subordi-nate position belongs to a cermin political party, as whether he is honest and capable. The Outdoman has no interest in the coming election further than usee mon choose wi-will administer city affairs in an igness, inpartial and economical hanner

A Treen Scane.—The Earl of Lonsdale, who lately reached New Yor's in his splendid yacht, is a nobleman of that class which brings no credit on his order. Whon little more than of age he succeeded to a princely heritage and at once began to run riot. Utterly ignoring the duties of a great position, Lord Lonsdale gave himself up to pleasure, taking no part either in the business of the House of Lords or of that in the counties where his vast estates lie. Having more arrived, greatly against the wishes of her brother, Lord Pourbroke, who refused to attend the wedding, a daughter of the late Admiral Lord Horbit, he gained in his beautiful wife a ready coadjutrix in the path of the most extravagant dissipation, and between them they found an income of over $200,000 a; year to insufficient for their needs that a sale of some of their personal effects became necessary. THE TELEGRAPH ABROAD. In Switzer it. The Triegraph Arrows. In Switzer-land, if one wishes to send a telegraph message, he must pay 6 cents to begin with, and then for one-half cent a word, he can send a message to any part of the country. For instance, one can send a message of 500 words from Gordyn to Constance—a distance of nearly 200 miles—for $2.56. Or, if a message of 10 words will suffice, it will cost only 11 cents, but you were shour SPE, not profits of the Swiss telegraph department last your were shour SPE, 100.
